The mission of the Judiciary, as an independent branch of government, is to administer justice in an impartial, efficient and accessible manner in accordance with the law.

I am pleased to present our 2014 Annual Report. The Judiciary’s mission is to administer justice in an impartial, efficient, and accessible manner in accordance with the law. Consistent with this mission, we strive to increase access to justice, including for individuals who are unable to afford an attorney to represent them in civil legal matters. This report highlights some of our accomplishments over the past year and provides detailed statistics on our caseloads and budget.

The accomplishments presented in this report reflect the dedication of the individuals who work in our court system. Each day, these employees work toward fulfilling our mission, knowing that their efforts have far-reaching impacts upon the lives of those who depend on our courts to resolve disputes and ensure justice. I am proud of our employees and extend to them my heartfelt thanks and appreciation. I also thank another valuable part of our Judiciary family—the hundreds of volunteers who serve with our employees and contribute their invaluable time, skills, and care.

On behalf of the Judiciary, I also extend our sincere appreciation to the Legislature for its continued support of our budgetary needs and legislative initiatives. Our ability to fulfill our mission depends on our cooperation and collaboration with the legislative and executive branches of our government. We pledge our continued commitment to working with the Legislature and Executive Branch to build a dynamic and progressive judicial system. We will continue to explore new ways to promote the public’s understanding of and confidence in our Judiciary.

JANUARY

Veterans Treatment Court Celebrates First Anniversary

The Veterans Treatment Court, under the leadership of First Circuit Court Judge Ed Kubo, marked its first anniversary in January.

The defendants in this specialized court, which began last year, have served in the Armed Forces and experienced difficulties acclimating following their military service. Many have mental health issues, including post-traumatic stress disorder, and the majority also struggle with substance abuse.

Judge Kubo and his team partnered with the U.S. Vets and Salvation Army Addiction Treatment Services so the defendants can be treated for mental health and substance abuse. The Court may also help the defendants find housing and receive job training, and pairs the defendants with volunteer veteran mentors who help support them through the process of recovery.

MARCH

DWI Court Marks One-Year Anniversary

The Honolulu DWI Court marked its one-year anniversary on March 7 in the courtroom of District Court Judge David Lo. While court was in session, Judge Lo congratulated the first DWI Court client to complete the program.

Unlike the traditional traffic court model, DWI Court emphasizes accountability and strict supervision to help ensure compliance. While participating in the treatment program, offenders are required to undergo alcohol and drug testing, individual and group counseling, and regularly attend at self-help meetings.

Offenders must voluntarily apply to be accepted into the program and agree to a guilty plea. Offenders with certain prior convictions, including a violent or sex crime, are not eligible. The participant’s sentence is suspended pending successful completion of the DWI Court program, the length of which is determined by each individual’s needs but is no less than 12 months.

Kauai Drug Court Community Service Event

On March 28, 30 clients and six Kauai Drug Court staff participated in a community service project at the National Tropical Botanical Garden (NTBG) at Poipu. Volunteers trimmed native palms, removed buffalo grass encroaching on the native Naupaka hedge, mulched vegetation around the entrance of the gardens, and spruced up the NTBG Visitor Center. They were treated to lunch by the Friends of the Kauai Drug Court, a Kauai United Way Agency.

“We the People”

The students of Mililani High’s Advanced Placement Government and Politics class and their teacher, Dr. Amy Perruso, were recognized by legislators as the state finalist in the “We the People” program.

The “We the People: The Citizen and the Constitution” program was developed by the Center for Civic Education to teach young people about the history and principles of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and is administered in Hawai‘i by the King Kamehameha V Judiciary History Center.

Children’s Justice Centers Statewide Recognize Child Abuse Prevention Month

The Children’s Justice Centers (CJC) of Maui, Kauai, West Hawai‘i, East Hawai‘i and Oahu, in collaboration with Prevent Child Abuse Hawai‘i and the Hawai‘i State Department of Health, “planted” pinwheels in recognition of Child Abuse Awareness Prevention Month. Month-by-Month Highlights

The CJC’s, programs of the Hawai’i State Judiciary, bring together a multidisciplinary team of professionals who coordinate the activities and investigations including minors who have been victims of abuse. The CJC’s provide a warm, homelike setting where children are made as comfortable and safe as possible while being interviewed about reports of child abuse, sexual abuse, and as witnesses to crimes.

Last year, more than 1,100 victims of child abuse or children who witnessed a crime were served at one of the five CJC’s of Hawai’i. More than 30,000 children have been served since the first CJC opened in Hawai’i in 1998.

Before unveiling state-of-the-art self-help interactive court forms at the new Aiea Public Library, Chief Justice Mark Recktenwald (left) thanked State Librarian Richard Burns (far right) and M. Nalani Fujimori Kaina (center), Executive Director of the Legal Aid Society of Hawai’i (Legal Aid), for a partnership that provides the public expanded access to these self-help legal resources. Legal Aid utilized state-of-the-art software to develop the self-help interactive forms, which will help guide the public in identifying and completing civil legal forms.

“Identifying and then filling out the correct court form can sometimes be a complicated process. Together, we have identified the 13 most frequently used civil legal forms and found a solution to assist self-represented litigants fill out these forms,” said Chief Justice Mark Recktenwald. “This software is similar to computerized tax preparation programs and will assist users to fill out forms easily and correctly. This is a great resource for the public, and will help the courts process cases more effectively and efficiently,” he explained.

The Hawai‘i State Public Library System provided access to the interactive forms on its 800 library computers and 250 netbooks statewide.

The Judiciary’s Self-Help Interactive Forms Expansion project was made possible by a grant from the State Justice Institute and builds on funding Legal Aid received from the Legal Services Corporation Technology Initiative Grant.

The new A2J self-help interactive forms are also available online at Legal Aid’s LawHelp website and the Hawai‘i State Judiciary’s website.

Court Staff Learn How to Better Provide Language Access Services

All court employees statewide are learning how to better help LEP (Limited English Proficient) court users by participating in a half-day training course developed and taught by the Hawai‘i State Judiciary’s Office on Equality and Access to the Courts.
To ensure security, anonymity, and confidentiality, the evaluation process was administered by Hawaiʻi Information Consortium, an entity that is independent of the Judiciary.

The Judiciary established the annual performance review as a permanent program in 1993. The main goals are improving the performances of judges, increasing the efficiency of judicial management, and providing the Judicial Selection Commission with a potential source of information for retention and promotion decisions.

Scores and comments received for individual judges are available to the Judicial Selection Commission upon its request. All yearly Judicial Performance Program reports are available to the public and are posted to the Judiciary’s website.

Grant Allows Court to Make Child Passenger Safety Course More Effective

Thanks to a $23,625 grant from the Highway Safety Grant Program, administered by the State Department of Transportation, the Hawaii State Judiciary is now developing a four-hour standardized curriculum for its court-mandated child passenger safety course. Once developed, all driver education instructors statewide will be trained on using the curriculum. The grant also allows the Judiciary to purchase demonstration seats and training dolls simulating various infant ages and sizes for a more effective and hands-on learning experience.

Hawaiʻi Ranks Fourth in Nationwide Access to Justice Study

The National Center for Access to Justice released its Justice Index findings, ranking Hawaiʻi as one of the top four states in the country for best practices of ensuring access to the civil and criminal justice systems. The report measured how accessible the justice system is in four categories: attorney access for low-income litigants; support for self-represented litigants; support for litigants with limited language proficiency; and support for people with disabilities.

“I’m very pleased that Hawaiʻi has been recognized as a leader in providing access to justice. Our hard work is paying off. The Hawaiʻi Access to Justice Commission was formed by the Supreme Court in 2008 with these very objectives in mind. The Justice Index results serve as a testament to how much the Commission, the state judiciary, volunteer attorneys, and our other partners have been able to accomplish with limited resources,” said Chief Justice Mark Recktenwald. “The Findings reflect dedication and commitment toward realizing justice for all in Hawaii, and the effectiveness of the partnerships that the Commission has forged.”

Supplemental proceedings, which arise out of primary cases, are comprised of motions, special stipulations and applications for certiorari. In fiscal year 2013-14, 3,314 supplemental proceedings were filed in the Courts of Appeal.

Terminations
The Courts of Appeal terminated 743 primary cases during fiscal year 2013-14, compared to 817 primary cases terminated during the previous fiscal year. Terminations of supplemental proceedings decreased from 3,599 last year to 3,308 this year.

Status of Pending Cases
745 primary cases and 82 supplemental proceedings were pending in the Courts of Appeal at the end of the fiscal year.
Supreme Court

The Supreme Court of Hawai‘i is the State’s court of last resort. The Supreme Court hears appeals that are brought before the court upon applications for writs of certiorari to the Intermediate Court of Appeals and applications for transfer from the Intermediate Court of Appeals.

The Supreme Court also:
- hears reserved questions of law from the circuit courts, the land court, and the tax appeal court;
- hears certified questions of law from federal courts;
- hears applications for writs to judges and other public officers;
- hears complaints regarding elections;
- makes rules of practice and procedure for all state courts;
- licenses, regulates, and disciplines attorneys; and
- disciplines judges.

Each appeal is decided on the basis of the written record. In some cases, the court may hear oral arguments. The court takes no evidence, except in original proceedings. Each justice, or a substitute from the Intermediate Court of Appeals or the Circuit Court, participates in every substantive matter before the court.

The Supreme Court is composed of a Chief Justice and four Associate Justices. Justices are nominated by the Governor from a list of not less than four and not more than six names submitted by the Judicial Selection Commission. A justice’s nomination is subject to confirmation by the State Senate. Each justice is initially appointed for a ten-year term. To be considered for appointment, a person must be a resident and a citizen of the state and of the United States and licensed to practice law by the Supreme Court of Hawai‘i for not less than ten years preceding their nomination. After initial appointment, the Judicial Selection Commission determines whether a justice will be retained in office. A justice may not serve past age 70.

The Intermediate Court of Appeals (ICA) hears almost all appeals from trial courts and some agencies in the State of Hawai‘i. The ICA is composed of six judges who sit on panels of three. Judges are nominated by the Governor from a list of not less than four and not more than six names submitted by the Judicial Selection Commission. A judge’s nomination is subject to confirmation by the State Senate. Each judge is initially appointed for a ten-year term. After initial appointment, the Judicial Selection Commission determines whether a judge will be retained in office. A judge may not serve past age 70.

The Intermediate Court of Appeals has discretionary authority to entertain cases submitted without a prior suit when there is a question of law that could be the subject of a civil action or a proceeding in the Circuit Court or Tax Appeal Court, and the parties agree upon the facts upon which the controversy depends.

Cases in the Intermediate Court of Appeals may be transferred to the Hawai‘i Supreme Court upon application to the Supreme Court under circumstances set out in the Hawai‘i Revised Statutes. The ICA’s Judgments on Appeal and dismissal orders are subject to the Hawai‘i Supreme Court’s discretionary review by way of an application for a writ of certiorari.

The First Circuit serves the City and County of Honolulu.

The Second Circuit serves the County of Maui, which includes the islands of Maui, Moloka‘i and Lāna‘i.

The Third Circuit, divided into the districts of Hilo and Kona, serves the County of Hawai‘i.

The Fourth Circuit is no longer used as a circuit designation. The Third and Fourth Circuits merged in 1943.

The Fifth Circuit serves the County of Kaua‘i, which includes the islands of Kaua‘i and Ni‘ihau.
Circuit Courts

The mission of the Circuit Court is to expeditiously and fairly adjudicate or resolve all matters within its jurisdiction in accordance with the law.

DESCRIPTION
All jury trials are held in the Circuit Courts, which have general jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. They also have exclusive jurisdiction in probate, guardianship and criminal felony cases, as well as civil cases where the contested amount exceeds $40,000. Circuit Courts share concurrent jurisdiction with District Courts in civil non-jury cases that specify amounts between $5,000 and $40,000.

Additional cases dispensed by the Circuit Courts include mechanics’ liens and misdemeanor violations transferred from the District Courts for jury trials.

Circuit Court judges are appointed to ten-year terms by the Governor from a list of not less than four and not more than six nominees provided by the Judicial Selection Commission. The nominees are subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Strategic Mission
The mission of the Family Court is to provide a fair, speedy, economical and accessible forum for the resolution of matters involving families and children.

Description
The Family Courts were established by statute in 1965 to deal with virtually all legal problems impacting Hawaii’s families and children.

The Family Court hears all legal matters involving children, such as delinquency, waiver, status offenses, abuse and neglect, termination of parental rights, adoption, guardianships and detention. The Family Court also hears traditional domestic relations cases, including divorce, nonsupport, paternity, uniform child custody jurisdiction cases and miscellaneous custody matters.

District Family Court judges are appointed to six-year terms by the Chief Justice from a list of at least six names submitted for each opening by the Judicial Selection Commission, subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Financial Resources

Appropriations for the Hawai‘i State Judiciary are made by the Legislature on a statewide basis, with each fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending June 30. Both the operating and capital improvements budgets of the Judiciary are legislatively determined each biennium with operating monies allocated from the State General and Special Funds and capital improvement monies from the State Capital Project Fund.

Combined, the State General and the Capital Project funds represent over 93 percent of the funding source of the Judiciary expenditures. The Legislature appropriated $148,686,364 from the State General Fund for operations during the current fiscal year, which constitutes 2.32% of the total state general fund appropriations. Other operating monies come from federal funds, trust funds and special revenue funds, such as the Driver Education and Training Fund.
