ORDER

Upon consideration of the First Circuit Court's request to implement a demonstration pilot project about the filing of documents presented for filing,

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that, any other rule or administrative memorandum to the contrary notwithstanding, the clerks of the Circuit Court of the First Circuit shall not refuse to accept for filing, on grounds the document is not presented in proper form, any document presented by a party to a case, provided: (1) the clerks need not file any document that requires the signature of a judge until the signature is affixed; and (2) except for notices of appeal or cross-appeal, the clerk shall strike any document for which a filing fee is required if the fee is not paid or a written request for waiver of the fee is not requested by the close of business on the work day following the date the document was first presented for filing. The clerk shall notify, in a timely manner, any party whose document has been stricken.

IT IS FINALLY ORDERED that this order is effective thirty days after its entry and for one year thereafter, unless modified, vacated, or replaced by order of this court.

DATED: Honolulu, Hawaii, November 22, 1995.
