The service shall consist of thorough maintenance work in accordance with the best commercial practice governing the maintenance of air conditioning and ventilation systems. Such service shall include regularly scheduled maintenance tasks and inspections for each unit listed herein. Explain in detail, the process that will be or was utilized in selecting the vendor/contractor/service provider: Based on explanation on item #6 Honeywell would need to be selected being that all equipments maintained under service contract #J13006 are not stand alone systems but intertwined with other serviceable items which Honeywell maintains.
