5. While the parties did not reach agreement on all issues, in the course of the VSM process (check all that apply):
- ☐ Helpful information was exchanged.
 - ☐ Helpful options were explored.
 - ☐ Each party was able to better understand their own interests.
 - ☐ Each party was able to better understand the interests of the other party.
 - ☐ Involved counsel helped reduce the level of conflict.
 - ☐ The parties became less positional and more conciliatory.

6. The inability of the parties to reach an agreement on all issues was the result of: (check all that apply):
- ☐ A VSM should never have been assigned to this case since it was unrealistic to assume that the case could settle with no more than 3.5 hours involvement on the part of the VSM.
 - ☐ Lack of preparation on the part of one or both parties.
 - ☐ Lack of preparation on the part of one or both attorneys.
 - ☐ Fundamental misconceptions about the law of divorce on the part of one or more participants.
 - ☐ Fundamental misconceptions about the legal process of divorce on the part of one or more participants.
 - ☐ Fundamental unwillingness on the part of one or more participants to reasonably compromise.
