THIRD ORDER EXTENDING JUNE 26, 2020 ORDER REGARDING
FORECLOSURE OR NON-JUDICIAL FORECLOSURE RELATED ACTIONS:
CERTIFICATION OF COMPLIANCE WITH THE CORONAVIRUS AID,
RELIEF, AND ECONOMIC SECURITY ACT IN FORECLOSURES

(By: Recktenwald, C.J., Nakayama, McKenna, Wilson, and Eddins JJ.)

On March 27, 2020, the federal Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act was adopted into law. The CARES Act provided for a nationwide moratorium on some, but not all, foreclosure proceedings. Specifically, the Act provided foreclosure relief for “federally backed loans.” Under the CARES Act, unless the subject property was vacant or abandoned, a servicer of a federally backed loan could not initiate any judicial or non-judicial foreclosure process, move for a foreclosure judgment, order a sale, or execute a foreclosure-related eviction or foreclosure sale.

A majority of the foreclosure or non-judicial foreclosure related actions filed in our trial courts involve or arise out of mortgage agreements. Whether a mortgage that is the subject of a foreclosure or an action arising out of a non-judicial foreclosure is (or is not) a federally backed mortgage within the protections of the federal CARES Act is not information necessarily contained in the court record.

Thus, on June 26, 2020, this court entered the "Order Regarding Foreclosure or Non-Judicial Foreclosure Related Actions: Certification of Compliance with the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act in Foreclosures," which set forth a certification process to ensure that foreclosure or non-judicial foreclosure related actions filed or pending in our trial courts were in compliance with the protections provided under the federal CARES Act. The order has been extended following the extensions of the foreclosure moratorium of federally backed loans by federal agencies. Currently, as extended, the June 26, 2020 order expires on February 28, 2021.

Although the foreclosure moratorium under the CARES Act has expired, federal agencies, including the Federal Housing Finance Agency ("FHFA") and the U.S. Government of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD"), have continued to extend the moratorium on foreclosures of federally backed loans covered under the CARES Act. On February 16, 2021, President Joseph Biden announced that his administration has coordinated with three federal agencies, HUD, the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, to extend their existing foreclosure moratoriums for federally backed loans covered under the CARES Act through June 30, 2021. The FHFA has also extended its foreclosure moratorium through June 30, 2021.

Given the number of foreclosure cases currently pending in the trial courts at various stages of the foreclosure process, and the extension of the foreclosure moratorium for federally backed loans, it is necessary for the certification process to remain in effect to ensure continued compliance with the protections provided under federal law.

Therefore, pursuant to Article VI, section 7 of the Hawai'i Constitution and Hawai'i Revised Statutes § 602-5(a)(6),

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the June 26, 2020 "Order Regarding Foreclosure or Non-Judicial Foreclosure Related Actions: Certification of Compliance with the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act in Foreclosures" is further extended until June 30, 2021. This Order may be further modified or extended as circumstances warrant. This Order also does not otherwise affect a judge's equitable discretion in foreclosure cases.

DATED: Honolulu, Hawai'i, February 26, 2021.
